TWO OF BIRMINHAM'S PREMIERE BUSINESS CONSULTANTS & TRAINERS HAVE JOINED FORCES TO REDUCE CRIME.

John Moser, Moser & Associates, and John O'Malley, Strategic Visions, Inc. have focused their expertise, energies, and entrepreneurship to form Law Enforcement Support Systems [LESS], an LLC dedicated to providing an array of behind-the-badge consulting, training, and educational materials to law enforcement and related entities.

“John and I have been discussing the possibilities of joining forces on and off for several years” said Moser, “and now, the conditions are right and the challenges of merit.”

O'Malley went on to say, “I have been seriously thinking about how to reduce crime in Birmingham, and in general, across the nation; Moser expressed the same sentiments. There was a mission-match, and we both envisioned a business opportunity in creating Law Enforcement Support Systems as the best instrument by which to pursue our passion, helping others help themselves and in the process, contribute to reducing crime in our own way.”

Moser said, “Over the years, John, and I have been successful at what we do, and those that know John, know he has one of the most creative minds around, that coupled with his driving “can do” attitude and energy level, give us a solid edge in product development. Further, his expertise in marketing and sales will be invaluable.”

"Picking up the “reduce crime” gauntlet was not taken lightly” said O'Malley, “However, I strongly believe John’s extensive network of key law enforcement contacts will open doors for our unique, niche targeted services. In addition, his commanding insight regarding behind-the-badge training and community relations needs only further strengthens our product and company depth.

“Our focus,” Moser stressed, “will be on non-tactical needs and our Crime Stopper Publications™, especially those that will enhance individual performance while creating community mindsets which see police officers, sheriff deputies, and agents as the “go-to-person” in good times and bad.”

Law Enforcement Support Services, LLC, will be headquartered in the greater Birmingham area, from which it will provide its services on a national and international basis. John Moser and John O'Malley will also continue to oversee their other business enterprises.
